Even more dazzling diamonds at Tiffany & Co.

Francesca Amfitheatrof’s overhaul of Tiffany & Co. continues as the innovative design director debuts her latest collection.

For the fall Tiffany Masterpieces 2015 release, Amfitheatrof and her team looked to focus on the storied American jeweller’s history as a purveyor of dazzling diamonds to create a collection that is sure to be a hit with diehard collectors.

“I’ve focused on diamonds to create an extremely modern collection that is very clean and sculptural,” Amfitheatrof said in a news release.

The collection includes all one-of-a-kind pieces including a necklace and bracelet crafted out of 18-karat gold chains and rose-cut diamonds, both finished with tassels inspired by the Hollywood Regency style of 1940s to 1960s fashions, according to the release.

The latest Tiffany Masterpieces release also includes black-and-white “jewels” including black onyx, as well as diamonds and platinum from the Tiffany Archives.

The collection is expected to travel to several North American Tiffany & Co. stores later this year. To learn more, visit Tiffany.ca.
