

Start a new tradition by getting involved with Cause We Care

This holiday season, the Cause We Care Foundation is encouraging locals to spread the love by becoming involved with their 9th annual Christmas Hamper Drive

December 4, 2015

By Ashley Sparrow

Whether its the twinkle lights that drape the massive tree near English Bay or the Santa Claus Parade that winds through downtown, the holidays present themselves each year in the city. These traditions animate the cold, wintry (and sometimes rainy) streets of Vancouver as they create colourful pockets of celebration.

Cause We Care is connecting to that festive feeling through their own holiday tradition, the annual hamper drive. For eight years, the charitable foundation has been working with local companies and volunteers to create care packages for single mothers and their families throughout the Greater Vancouver area. Brimming with household products, food, and gifts, a single hamper is made possible with an online donation of $65.

Along with donations, volunteers are also invited to connect with their community by packing and delivering hampers. To sign up as a volunteer, email info@causewecare.org.

Cause We Care 9th Annual Christmas Hamper Drive

December 8

Causewecare.org