

Blue Book Gala

On the evening of April 15, guests ascended the staircase of Lower Manhattan's Cunard Building to attend the Tiffany & Co. Blue Book gala. The lavish ball is a celebration of the annual Tiffany & Co. Blue Book, which has catalogued the jewellery house's most valuable pieces since first being published in 1845. This year's theme: The Art of Transformation. Tiffany & Co. head designer Francesca Amfitheatrof's creations glittered around the necks of Naomi Watts, Diane Kruger, and Reese Witherspoon, the latter sporting a $10-million diamond necklace. Amfitheatrof herself paired her own starfish-inspired diamond cuffs with a Proenza Schouler dress. Grammy Award-winning jazz performer Esperanza Spalding performed while the A-list attendees sampled blue macarons beneath a canopy of floating silver spheres. Then to the dance floor, where Japanese actress Hikari Mori showed the well-heeled crowd how to really cut a rug.
