From British Columbia's capital city of Victoria to the Pacific Coast surf town of Tofino, we've got the scoop on where to eat this summer on Western Canada's vacation island.

Wolf in the Fog, Tofino

Critics across Canada have been lauding this informal dining spot in the west coast surfer town of Tofino as one of the country's best new restaurants. And after sampling the contemporary regional fare that chef Nicholas Nutting and his team turn out in their window-lined, second-floor dining room, we have to agree. Start with the potato-crusted oyster, a briny bivalve wrapped in a delicate web of crisp potato threads. Then, order whatever fresh item you fancy, from the baked halibut with herbed gnocchi and radishes to the grilled Cornish hen with sunchokes and morels. Or, dig into feed-the-gang share plates like Szechuan Surf & Turf (a platter of braised shortribs, spicy grilled octopus, sweet potatoes and bok choy) or the Mighty Duck (an entire barbecued duck paired with beetroot and gorgonzola lasagna). Save room for the Tofino Blackout, a fantasia of chocolate served in a jar.
